CHARTING TECHNIQUE & ANALYSIS

Course Overview

- This program teaches how to use Technical Analysis either on its own as an investment and trading strategy or in addition to fundamental analysis.

- It involves using tools based on price action and technical principles.

- Understanding technical analysis is crucial in comprehending investment and trading theories in the market.

- The program focuses on applying momentum indicators to make decisions on buying and selling.

- Rather than just explaining and demonstrating popular indicators like moving averages, RSI, MACD, and stochastics, the program assesses the past back-tested outcomes of each indicator, so that you can make an objective evaluation of their performance.
